DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- Claims 1-25, drawn to a system and method for facilitating legal services by providing legal services communication avenues between a client and a legal entity, classified in class 705, subclass 500.
- II. Claims 26-30, drawn to a method for performing legal services for clients involving receiving an access identifier, displaying case information referenced by the identifier, selecting case information, and displaying specific client case matter information responsive to the selection, classified in class 705, subclass 1.
- III. Claims 31-35, drawn to a method for performing legal services for clients by drafting, storing and providing legal forms having a data field template for receiving client specific data, classified in class 707, subclass 1.
- IV. Claims 36-40, drawn to a method for performing legal services for clients over a network by associating a tag identifier with a legal topic, entering information pertaining to the legal topic and storing the information, classified in class 715, subclass 1.
- V. Claims 41-45, drawn to method for performing legal services for clients over a network by creating navigation path records, storing the paths and path records in a database and displaying the path records to a client, classified in class 709, subclass 1.

Art Unit: 3629

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as providing an access identifier and displaying information referenced by the identifier, selecting case information and displaying specific information responsive to the selection which could be used for displaying information other than specific case information relating to legal services. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention III has separate utility such as drafting, storing and providing forms which could be used for drafting, storing and providing forms for services other than legal services. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention IV has separate utility such as associating a tag identifier with a topic, entering information pertaining to the topic and storing the information pertaining to a topic which could be used for information other than legal information and topics. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I and V are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention V has separate utility such as creating navigation path records, storing paths and path records in a database and displaying the path records which could be used for creating navigation path records for services other than legal services. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention III has separate utility such as drafting, storing and providing forms which could be used for drafting, storing and providing forms for purposes other than legal services. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions II and V are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention V has separate utility such as creating navigation path records, storing paths and path records in a database and displaying the path records which could be used for any purposes other than legal services. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for one group is not required for the other groups, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
